Bill Iyall
General Council Chairman

Klahowya. It’s time for our fall gathering of the year, Saturday, November 5th. The semi-annual General Council meeting starts at 10 a.m. at St Mary’s. It is a time that we can all look forward to. The Youth Board hosts the Youth Day Gathering at St. Mary’s so that parents can be in the meeting. The Canoe Honoring Dinner will be held after the meeting at the potluck.

The Comprehensive Plan: This is a tool that will be used by tribal members, tribal staff, and the Tribal Council. It will allow us to understand what needs to be done for the Tribe to be successful. By understanding the plan, everyone can participate in reaching our goals; everyone can play a part in the success of the Tribe.

The Cowlitz Tribe recognizes that this is a rapidly changing world, one that requires the ability to adapt readily to new issues and new opportunities. The comprehensive plan will map out a destination that allows for multiple paths as well as new road building. The plan is being developed with input from tribal citizens, advisory committees, tribal staff, and by the Tribal Council and Executive.

A Message From the Vice Chairman

Philip Harju
General Council Vice Chairman

Lots of exciting happenings are occurring this year for the Cowlitz Tribe. In March, I had the opportunity to go to Washington, D.C. to watch the oral argument before the Federal Court of Appeals on our Land into Trust case. The Cowlitz Tribe and our legal team have done an outstanding job on this long and complicated case. Our hard work paid off on July 29th of this year when the three Judge panel of the D.C. Circuit Court of Appeals unanimously affirmed our case. We won on every legal issue!

Work on our Reservation continues at a fast pace. The management team for our ilani Casino is coming together along with the needed infrastructure to support our Reservation. We have signed an intergovernmental agreement with Clark Fire and Rescue for fire and emergency medical services for the Reservation, and are working on a law enforcement agreement.

The Cowlitz Tribe continues to be a leader in Southwest Washington with our many programs, such as, health, education, transportation, housing, elders care, youth, cultural, and natural resources. I hope that many of our Tribal members can attend our General Council Meeting, on November 5, 2016. Please bring your ideas, suggestions, and questions to the meeting.

When I was at the Interior Department in Washington, D.C. in March, I looked for the Cowlitz flag that we presented to the federal government some years ago. I found our flag on display and have included a picture of it in the Hall of Flags at the BIA headquarters. Go Cowlitz!

Enrollment Department:

Randy Russell

Our current enrollment criteria are as follows (applicant must meet all three):

The changes made in June of 2015 allows descendants whose parent did not enroll them by their first birthday to enroll as an adult between their 18th and 19th birthdays.

As of September 2016 our current total enrolled population is 4039. In May 2016 we enrolled 40 new tribal members and in July we enrolled another 23 new tribal members.

A Gift To The Tribe

By David Barnett

At the General Council meeting last June, I announced that I was going to create a Pendleton blanket to gift to the Cowlitz Tribe. Over the last four months tribal member Jeanne St. Martin and I worked on the creation, and today I submitted the final design to Pendleton for production. I think you will be blown away by Jeanne's artistry when you see the blanket. Fulfilling a dream of mine, I will be gifting 500 of these blankets to Cowlitz Tribal Members at my cost. I can't wait to wrap you up in one!! The blankets will be finished by the end of the year, and I would like to set up a ceremony to gift them to you shortly after that, maybe at our recognition ceremony in February. I encourage you to attend the November General Council meeting where you will be able to write your name on the list and not be left out. I will limit this initial gifting to Tribal members over the age of 18, and one per household so that as many families get one as possible. Chief Roy and Spiritual Leader Tanna were given a sneak peek at the design and I received amazing responses from them. I am sure you will feel the same way, so show up at the General Council meeting this November!

Our casino “ilani” is scheduled to open on April 17, 2017 and there will be a day set aside for the Cowlitz to come and celebrate our homeland and our casino, and I will provide a good meal for all!

As I said in the June newsletter, I was very pleased and confident with the oral argument presented by the Tribe in the D.C. Circuit Court of Appeals and on July 29th, The D.C. Circuit “UNANIMOUSLY” ruled in our favor!!! When I heard the decision, I felt a sense of peace and comfort and I could hear our ancestors singing in the sky. All was calm. However I've been taught by my elders and ancestors to never rest on your laurels and to never let down your guard. There is still much work to do as our opponents will stop at nothing to protect their gaming monopoly. But we are Cowlitz, we are the Blue Bloods and we are the Forever People. WE WILL PREVAIL.

I AM LOOKING FORWARD TO SEEING YOU IN A FEW WEEKS!

Town Hall Meetings Concluded, Strategic Planning is the Next Step

Christine Myers

Chairman Iyall and the Cowlitz Tribal Council arranged for the five town hall style meetings in order to engage tribal members across Cowlitz country and solicit their feedback for planning the future of the Cowlitz Tribe. With the exciting new reservation and ilani casino now underway, these meetings were well timed and welcomed by participants.

The Tribe’s Communications Team worked with a tribal panel of experts and the consultants to prepare for and facilitate five meetings between February and June of 2016. The meetings were held on Saturdays from 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. in the Washington State cities of Toledo, Fife, Longview, Tukwila, and Ridgefield. Tribal
Cowlitz Indian Tribe Declares Data Sovereignty, Conducts Tribal Census

Christine Myers
Tribal Planner

Tribal Council put a call out for a census to be conducted so that tribal government services can be planned using actual tribal citizen data. As the Tribal Planner, I am working with the Census Data Team to develop the Cowlitz Indian Tribal Census.

The Census Data Team needs your help. We need tribal citizens to update their contact information (emails, phone numbers, and addresses) with the Enrollment Office. We want to encourage you to respond to the Cowlitz Indian Tribal Census online because that will help save the tribe time and money. Updating your contact information will also help us understand the best way to contact you so we can engage you in the planning process.

Completing the Tribal Census should take an average of 45 minutes to an hour, but may take longer depending on how many people live with you. The head of household should complete the forms and they may need to have certain information on hand. This could include the enrollment numbers of all Cowlitz Indians in the household, information about income of any sort for everyone over age 15, and documents related to common household expenses. There are many other questions on the Census but those should be easily answered with basic knowledge.

After the Tribal Census data has been collected and analyzed, we may conduct some follow-up surveys to determine specific priorities and to better address tribal member needs. Data from the different sections of the Tribal Census will be used to design programs to serve the needs of Cowlitz people. Just like with the U.S. Census, your responses will be confidential and the data used for planning will not identify people personally.

Every household that submits their Tribal Census will be entered into a raffle for prizes.

Cowlitz Tribe Represented at Standing Rock, North Dakota

Cowlitz Tribal member Melody Pfeifer and Linda O’Brien, wife of Council member John O’Brien, drove thirteen hundred miles over the Labor Day weekend to join the Sacred Stone camp and to support the opposition to the Dakota Access Pipeline at Standing Rock, North Dakota. Linda donated a double sided buffalo Pow Wow drum to the camp and felt honored that it would be used as the official drum for the encampment. Members of the camp also raised the Cowlitz flag to join many other Indian Nations flags flying above the sacred land. Melody and Linda volunteered time cooking in several kitchens and on the front line of the camp for the scouts and warriors. Both women said the experience was life-changing and a spiritual awakening. Melody stated, “This is bigger than just the pipeline”. The camp will need donations to get through the cold North Dakota winter. For a list of supplies, please see the Standing Rock Facebook page or www.sacredstonecamp.org.

members participated actively in all the sessions which produced excellent ideas regarding programs and projects for Tribal Council to consider.

The conversations were themed and structured around the core services that the tribe provides to members: Education, Housing, Health, Natural Resources, and an open-ended “other” category. A draft vision statement was produced from the input.

The next steps for this process will be taken the executive summary to the Tribal Council for strategic planning which will refine the results of the Town Hall meetings into an actionable plan for the Tribe’s Departments and Programs.
The Elders program provides transportation for native Elders as needed and serves lunch on weekdays at St. Marys, Toledo, WA. We also serve lunch on Tuesday at our Longview location.

Army Sgt. Bleu Hazel Serves 2nd Tour

Army Sgt. Bleu Hazel is serving his second tour of duty in Afghanistan. Bleu is the son of Mark and Barbara “Bobbi” Kinswa Cox and grandson to Barbara Kinswa Lindholm.

His mother said that Bleu wanted to be in the military since he was 14 years old. The young man was born in Federal Way, Washington, and grew up in Olympia, where he graduated from North Thurston High School in 2013.

The idea of her son joining the military was hard on Bobbi.

“I cried a lot when, at 16, Bleu told me that he wanted to join the Army as soon as he graduated from high school,” she said. “I didn’t want him to go to Afghanistan … (I was) so afraid that something would happen to him.”

But the earnest high-schooler explained his decision.

“He looked at me seriously and with the demeanor of someone much older and told me that he wanted to go because he wants to help people,” Bobbi said. “I’m afraid for him every day that he’s there, but it’s tempered with a mother’s pride.”

Bleu, whose skill with firearms bolstered him in his role as infantry fire team leader, will be back stateside sometime in late November, joining his wife, Nikkie. He and Nikkie married in 2014, and she is studying to be a nurse practitioner at Pikes Peak Community College in Colorado Springs, where Bleu is stationed at Fort Carson.

Holes in My Life

By Sandra Cloquet Marinsik, Cowlitz Elder

I’ve got holes in my pockets, no soles on my shoes
My coat is worn and dirty, my heart is tattered thru
In this endless sea of faces, no one sends a smile my way
I once had money in my pockets, no holes that needed bound
My shoes were shiny, on my uniform no dirt was found
Now each day is like the other, surviving always on my mind walk these miles of crowded pavement hoping I might find, a place to lay my blanket far from cold, wind and rain,
a piece of day old bread to ease my stomach of its pang
Yes I’ve got holes in my pockets no soles left on these shoes
But, I’d gladly sing a song of sunshine if I knew how to shake these blues
I went off to serve my country, wore the uniform proud came back to face my demons, got lost in a storm of clouds…

2016 Huckleberry Camp: This is an annual event that takes place on the Swift Schoolhouse property. Camp chefs were Melody Pfeifer and Charity Sabido-Hodges from the new tribal kitchen trailer. Salmon was donated by Tim Van Mechelen. Everyone was invited to participate in activities such as beading, cedar weaving and plant education. There were daily trips to the Huckleberry fields located in Indian Heaven.

We also had bicycle visitors from France, who are traveling for a year around the world. They set up their tent and shared an evening meal with us. They were even able to make cedar roses, taught by Noah Reck. Charity gifted them with necklaces she made. They were so interesting and grateful to have a place for the night.

Cowlitz Drum Group: Tribal members are invited to participate in the drum group. A Thanksgiving cultural day will be held November 19, 2016 at St Mary’s where activities will include beading, language, cedar weaving, drumming, crafts, and dinner with a White Elephant Bingo to follow. On December 10, 2016 there will be an afternoon of drumming, followed by Christmas dinner. Patty Kinswa-Gaiser will introduce a new dice game. Prizes will be awarded to all who participate.

Canoe Journey to Nisqually

Remember the Water was the theme for the 2016 Canoe Journey. This is a revival of the traditional method of transportation and sharing of cultures between tribes. The canoe culture had all but disappeared until the 1989 “Paddle to Seattle” held during the 100th Anniversary of Washington’s Statehood. This was also when state and local governments signed the Centennial Accord, recognizing tribal sovereignty. Each canoe family and/or nation presents a protocol of drumming, dancing and sharing of tradition and culture. The Cowlitz Canoe Family paddled from Fort Vancouver to Swinomish, joining others until the final landing at Swan Town at the Port of Olympia. Ninety-five canoes participated in the largest cultural gathering in the Pacific Northwest. Our 2016 Canoe royalty, Canoe Princess, Sandra Spahr, Junior Princess, Sophia Cox, Little Miss, Gracie Graves and former Princesses, Cynthia Reck and Lydia Hodges prepared for the journey by learning songs, dances, designing their regalia and made gifts to give along the journey route. The Princesses greeted the canoes, danced and sang with the drummers.

Next fall the Canoe Journey will be hosted by the Campbell River Indian Band, Campbell River, British Columbia.

Cowlitz Canoe Family Skin Cancer Prevention Grant: The Northwest Portland Area Indian Health Board awarded our tribe $3000.00 to educate tribal members about the causes and prevention of skin cancer. These funds were used to purchase UV resistant shirts, sunscreen and lip protectant for participants of the Canoe Journey.

Cowlitz Encounters at the County Historical Museum

By Nathan Reynolds

The Cowlitz County Historical Museum is updating its main gallery with a new long-term exhibit. Cowlitz Encounters looks at how the people of Cowlitz County have used the area's forests, rivers and rustic beauty to make a living and build communities. Museum Director David Freece said, “So many times, artifacts from pre-contact Indian history are the first display encountered at a museum, but then the Indian people are never seen again”. We wanted our new exhibits to show the Cowlitz People throughout the entire timeline, and continuing today.” Tribal staff from the Cowlitz Cultural Resources Department and Natural Resources Department worked with Freece and exhibit designer Chris Erlich to review and edit the text and photos in the new displays. The main entry to the new exhibits will feature a mural of a bend on Cowlitz River, with an Indian plankhouse village in the distance. Below the mural will be a traditional shovelnose canoe, commonly poled and paddled by Indians on shallow rivers throughout the Pacific Northwest. This canoe was presented to the museum by the Cowlitz Indian Tribe, carved by Tribal Carver Robert Harju. The canoe log was originally donated to the Cowlitz Tribe by the Gifford Pinchot National Forest in 2011.

Cowlitz Medicine Women Circle

“Everything on earth has a purpose, every disease an herb to cure it, and every person a mission. This is the Indian theory of existence”. Morning Dove (Christal Quintasket), Salish

With the sun leading the way and the wind on my back, I never feel as close to creator as when I am led quietly to a plant medicine that softly restores our physical or emotional selves to a place of balance. I think I have always been drawn to the plants-always looking to my elders and teachers to see if I could gather it, taste it, make something with it. And it is such a joy to do the same with our Cowlitz kids. For several years now, we have been incorporating plant medicine teachings into the kids program. We have played Berry Bingo, gathered herbs for a medicinal salve and had some fun decorating our own tubes of pink herbal chapstick. The kids soak up the teachings and are both willing and capable to learn and to create. I am so proud to see the children slowly becoming teachers to other children as we make our medicines, pointing out plants that they have learned, or offer their healing salve when another child skins their knee. Over the last couple of years, we have expanded to gather seasonally as Cowlitz medicine women. We have made herbal honeys, delicious elderberry syrups, and cedar oil. We have dug medicinal roots, enjoyed the gift of flowers, and marked the turning of the seasons in our herb walks. Needless to say, it has been both powerful and beautiful. My hope is that more and more of our tribal members will be able to join us for activities in the months to come.

Rhonda Lee Grantham is a Cowlitz tribal member and lives in Olympia, WA. She is a herbalist, midwife, and founder of the Center for Indigenous Midwifery. She has always been drawn to traditional plants, foods, and medicines as the sustainable, truthful medicines of every community. She is thankful for her teachers; which include tribal elders, the Center for World Indigenous Studies and Northwest Indian College. Rhonda spends her days catching babies and teaching, both here at home and globally, attending births in mud huts, jungle shacks, rural island birth centers and disaster relief tents, alongside Indigenous midwives and healers, all over the world.

For information on gatherings or to be added to a Facebook group/email list on herbal classes & opportunities, please email Rhonda Grantham at WildRoseMidwifery@gmail.com or call 360-742-4764.

The annual Cowlitz Pow Wow was held September 17, 2016 at Toledo High School. Head positions are: Headman Dancer, Mark Sison (Nisqually) and Headwoman Dancer, Tanna Engdahl (Cowlitz). Ed Wulf (Yupik-Athabascan) was Arena Director and Don Ryan (Cowlitz), Master of Ceremonies. The Allen Family Singers served as Host Drum and Grey Eagle as Honor Drum. In accordance with Cowlitz Pow Wow tradition, veterans of all ages representing all branches of the military introduced themselves and received handmade cedar rose pins from the committee. The celebration included drumming, competitions and intertribal dances, vendors, raffles, merchandise sales and other offerings.

The event honored not only the tribe’s culture, but introduced the new Chairman for the Pow Wow Committee, Nathan Hooten. Two new members in charge of organizing future Cowlitz Pow Wows are Jessica Eyle and Cheryl Wilcox. Lenny Bridges will continue as a committee member. We offer our gratitude and honor those who dedicated many years of volunteer service to the Cowlitz Pow Wow: Suzanne Donaldson Stephens, Linda Foley, Larry Knutson, Jane Meyer, Patty Kinswa-Gaiser, Curt Stephens, Jennifer Johnson, and Lindsey Foley.

Want to get involved? Find us at www.Cowlitz.org or on Facebook: Cowlitz Indian Tribe Pow Wow. Please consider serving the Cowlitz people in this rewarding way.

Cowlitz Elder

It was the spring of 2015 when a former Cowlitz resident, Mary Anne Beals strolled out to our then-defunct greenhouse and began clearing a path thru the clutter. Mary Ann began planting flower and vegetable seeds and the rest, as they say, is history. Her enthusiasm spread to others and with help from Deb’s nutrition program and Housing we planted our first community garden. Although we were beginners with limited knowledge we were successful enough to attempt a second larger garden the following spring with the help from Dan VanMechelen who hauled his tractor and tiller down from Olympia.

New grounds projects were spurred on by many of our residents this summer and with the continued support from Housing we have been happy to see the amazing transformation of our outdoor social areas. We now have new handicap accessible walkways to the out buildings making it possible for all tribal members and guests to enjoy many futures events here at St Mary’s.

We recently received a private cash donation from a tribal member that will help us create a fully functioning shop and greenhouse for Elders projects. Thank you to our Culture Board for the donation of tools, fencing and soil enhancing products. Village chairwoman Gwendolyn Drummond encourages all Elders to be involved in the planning, events, and any concerns that need addressed through the Cowlitz Village tenant association.

We appreciate the hard work and dedication from the following:

Pat Boydston, Executive Director and Sheryl Bertucci, Deputy Director of Housing, Tom Childs, Steve Jones, Quinn Anderson, Holly Wallace and Brian Smithlin for designing construction projects.

IT TAKES A VILLAGE!
More Than Just a Job

The Cowlitz Vocational Rehabilitation Program (CITVR) is about more than just getting a job. Cultural and art classes are offered such as beading, painting, drum-making, herbal lotion creation while clients work on resume writing, job search and personal finance.

With these offerings, staff members hope to provide an atmosphere for employment success that makes sense socially and culturally. "All of our services are provided in a holistic and caring way. We work with you to become ready for employment however long that journey may be."

CITVR has received federal funding since 2004, with monies covering the costs through 2019. From 2004-2014 CITVR provided services to 920 clients and placed 353 in successful employment. Of those helped, 196 clients were Cowlitz Tribal members.

Twelve percent of all Cowlitz Tribal employees were once CITVR clients, all but two of which are of Cowlitz lineage. With all of those clients, staff members take time to address each person’s needs.

"We work with each client on an individual basis, meaning that no two clients services will look alike."

To find out more about the program, including eligibility, visit the website, www.cowlitz.org or call the CITVR office at Longview, 360-575-3318 or Vancouver, 360-397-8228. Staff include counselors Jennifer Neal and Kris Rister, program manager Shari Hughes and program assistant Jolynne Morris.

Terry and Sandy Helton Celebrating 50 Years

Terry and Sandy Helton of Lacey, Washington celebrated their 50th Anniversary on June 19, 2016 with a Fabulous 50’s party hosted by their children. The event, organized by Danielle Deuel, Michelle Lawrence and Josh Helton was held at the Lacey Community Center. 200 friends and family helped the couple celebrate their golden anniversary. They enjoyed barbecue, shared fond memories and listened to 1950’s and 1960’s rock n’ roll.

The Heltons were high school sweethearts and have lived in Lacey all their married life with the exception for the two years that Terry spent serving in the military at Fort Hood, Texas.

In addition to their three children, the Heltons have a daughter-in-law, Jodi; eight grandchildren; and one great-grandson. Seventeen other Cowlitz tribal members were at the celebration. All are descendants of Emma Simmons Lund and her daughters, Mabel and Helen.

“It was a wonderful day,” Sandy wrote. “It’s been a wonderful 50 years!”

Obituary

Dorothy Karl (Dermanoski) McKnight “Grandma D,” passed away peacefully at home surrounded by family June 8, 2016, at the age of 71, after a courageous battle with Chronic Obstructive Pulmonary Disease and Congestive Heart Failure. She was born in Chehalis, WA., to Francis (Frank) George and Anna Marie (Catlin) Dermanoski and she was raised in Vader. After completing Vader Elementary, she graduated from Toledo High School in 1962. Upon graduation, she worked in the secretarial field in Seattle, WA., until returning to Vader.

Dorothy married Gary Mathew McKnight Sept. 7, 1968 and together, they raised four children, Mitchel James, Richard Frank, Cindy Ann and Jill Amelia. They lived on the family farm and raised beef cattle, rabbits, chickens and pigs. Dorothy spent the summer preparing food for the hay crew and kept the family books in order. She was a homemaker for many years and enjoyed attending all of her children’s school events and was also an active Parent Teacher Student Association member. Many memories were made shuttling her kids to sporting events, including cheerleading camps and Future Farmers of America activities. She spent countless hours sitting on bleachers and in grandstands, supporting her children and later, her grandchildren. She started working at Cedar Village IGA in Winlock in 1988 and spent the next 24 1/2 years there, finally retiring due to health reasons. The employees at Cedar Village became her second family and she made lifelong friends through work. Her annual spaghetti dinner became a tradition with the ladies. Dorothy was a descendant of Simon Plomondon and was a Cowlitz Indian Tribe member.

Dorothy is survived by her children, Mitch (Cathy), Rich (Carla), Cindy and Jill, all of Winlock, WA. The lights of her life were her grandchildren, Mathew (Amber) McKnight of Silver Creek, WA., Michael of Winlock, Mark of Eugene, OR. and Anthony of Berea, OH, Conner Allender (USMC) Quantico, VA., Kaitlyn McKnight of Staten Island, N.Y. and Kendall, Brady and Kelsey Steveson, all from Winlock. Her biggest smiles came from her great-grandchildren, Christopher, Timothy and Avalynn McKnight of Silver Creek, WA. and Karlee Ward-Steverson of Winlock. She is also survived by her very special sister, Judy (Clifford) Letts (enrolled Cowlitz) of Toledo, Wash. and her dearest old friend, Audrey Marsyla of Winlock, Wash.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Gary, in 1992 as well as her parents.

Honoring a friend of the Cowlitz People

A Remembrance Ceremony was held in the evening session during the 2016 Cowlitz Pow Wow, to honor the memory of Kathy Brineman. She was a true friend of the Cowlitz People, an avid supporter of the Pow Wow, and a member of the drum Group, One People, One Voice. The drum group gifted the Cowlitz Honor Song to the Cowlitz People, December 15, 1998 during the First Salmon Ceremony held at the Wannassey Family boathouse on the Cowlitz River where the Hall of Justice is located today. Kathy faithfully attended Cowlitz Pow Wow events until her health began to decline. She passed shortly before the 2015 Pow Wow. She is survived by her husband, Scott and daughter Tammy.

Shana Lombard

Shana Lombard is a sophomore from Haskell Indian Nations University, earning her Associate of Arts in Media Communications. She is also a member of the university's cheerleading squad and secretary of The Indian Leader. Shana is a member of the Cowlitz Tribe. Shana found her love for video production in high school when she took a video production class. She excelled so well, that she was asked to transfer to the Warrior News class. She wrote and recorded stories, anchored for the daily, live newscast and spent her senior year being the newscast’s producer.

She plans to move onto the University of Kansas. Shana one day hopes to work for national sport league stadiums, concert venues and represent Native Americans in major media outlets. She also plans to use her video skills to revitalize her tribal language.

Tarri Lee

Tarri Lee graduated in September from Bellevue University, Bellevue, Nebraska with a Bachelor degree in Criminal Justice. She was in the Air Force 29 years, specializing in Logistics planning. Her parents are Gary and Penny Baker of Tacoma, and Sandra Mozingo of Spanaway, WA. Tarri stated “It would have been more difficult to pay for my education if it was not for the scholarship I received from the Tribe, I am very grateful. I would like to share this news with everyone!”

Sandra Langford Baker

Sandra Langford Baker recently graduated from University of Washington, Tacoma, with a Bachelor degree in Social Work. She is continuing towards her Master degree as this is her passion. She was a stay-at-home Mom and decided at age 47 to start college courses. She is the daughter of Gary and Penny Baker of Tacoma, and Sandra Mozingo of Spanaway, WA. Her daughter Lindsay Langford graduated in 2014 with her Bachelor degree in Environmental Science. Sandra expressed her gratitude with the ease of working with Mike Iyall and the process to secure a scholarship. Sandra hopes her story will encourage others, at any age to pursue education. Go Cowlitz!

Ted Gagner

Cowlitz Tribe member Ted Gagner’s connection to gardening began decades ago on the 2.5-acre farm where he grew up in Friday Harbor, Washington. That early start undoubtedly has helped Ted over the years, including the recent growing season. That’s when the Anacortes man grew a baseball-sized radish.

Ted said that he and his family devoured the radish in thick slices. “It was good,” he said in a story about the giant vegetable in goanacortes.com. “It (the radish) wasn’t hot like some can be.”

JoJo, Ted’s wife, said that Ted is lucky to be able to garden at all. In 2013, he had a stroke. After four months of speech therapy, he is now able to talk. As for gardening, he can’t get on his knees, so JoJo built him a raised garden so that he could enjoy the hobby while standing.

JoJo said that Ted used to enjoy coming to the Cowlitz Tribal Council meetings, but following the stroke, he no longer drives, but he keeps up with the tribe through the Cowlitz Tribal News.

Cowlitz Honor Song

Written by Steve Purcell

Way ya way ya hoo way oh
Yeah way ah way ya hoo way
Way ah way ho yeah way ah hoo way
(twice)

Horse people riding
This river so free
The land of the Cowlitz is calling to me

Way ah way ah hoo way oh
Yeah way ah way ah hoo way
Way ah way ho yeah way ah hoo way

The spirits they whisper
My child never roam
Come back to the Cowlitz
The Cowlitz is home

Way ah way ah hoo way oh
Yeah way ah way ah hoo way
Way ah way ho yeah way ah hoo way

My brothers and sisters
Stand now with me
We are united
A Nation that’s free!

Engagement

Ty Koch and Kasey Hathon became engaged during the 2016 Canoe Journey. Ty is a member of the Cowlitz Tribe and is attending Northwest Indian College. Kasey is a member of the Red Cliff Band of Chippewa from Lake Superior. Ty and Kasey have a common bond in their love for native culture, beading and cedar crafting. They plan to be married at the Cowlitz Landing in the summer.

Cowlitz Gathering – Plants and Other Things

The Natural Resources Department (NRD) has been working with the Forest Service for the past year to improve the Cowlitz Tribe access to traditionally gathered natural resources in the Gifford Pinchot National Forest. And today, we have a program!

Starting in 2017, all Cowlitz tribal members can collect under the “Food, Fiber, Firewood, and Forest Program.” This program is open for all tribal members. There are 13 items that can be open harvested and any other forest products can be harvested with coordination through your Natural Resource Department. We will negotiate and complete paperwork on your behalf. Firewood can also be collected, although you will need to obtain a specific, free permit and ticket book from the Tribe prior to going out to the Forest.

To participate in the program, call Amy Boyd, Forest Land Steward, at (360) 353-9202 or email aboyd@cowlitz.org. You will receive a booklet that serves to record how much you’re collecting, and also as a dashboard placard to notify Forest Service law enforcement that you are gathering under Cowlitz tribal authority.

In related news, an updated federal rule allows for the gathering and removal of plants in National Parks. 36 CFR 2.1(c) allows federally recognized tribes to collect in traditionally associated park areas. Cowlitz leaders are talking with the National Park Service about the importance of Mount Rainier. An article was recently published, citing the Cowlitz People’s relationship to Mount Rainier. Check out the article here: http://fus.in/2amGk4N

Coal and Oil Threats in our Homeland

The NRD continues to address concerns and opposition to three major industrial developments being proposed within our homelands along the Lower Columbia River. We have met with several agencies overseeing these proposals for oil and coal terminals; addressing significant concerns of the potential for major negative environmental impacts to the salmon, steelhead, and smelt we are trying to recover in the Lower Columbia. There is another draft Environmental Impact Statement that is connected with the Army Corps that has recently been released in regards to the proposed Coal terminal in Longview, WA. We will do what we can in regards to addressing concerns and opposition associated with these developments. If you wish to view additional detail, you can visit the following website: http://www.millenniumbulkeiswa.gov. We also presented our concerns to the Governor personally at the recent Centennial Accord meeting at Chehalis.

Other Activities

We continue to implement several salmon restoration projects and further develop our forest and lands program. We have built capacity in many areas of resource concerns and work to build additional capacity as we move forward. We envision the Cowlitz Tribe as the leading force in the future in regarding to conservation and recovery.

Please contact me if you would like to know additional information on the work that we do.

Natural Resources Department Intern

Cowlitz tribal member and college student, Andres Smiley, interned for the Natural Resources Department this summer. Andres assisted with lands maintenance on many tribal properties. He participated in the Tribe's mountain goat survey and worked on fish habitat restoration projects. He also assisted in installing wildlife game cameras.

The Natural Resources Department notes that Andres was a hard worker and diligent employee. We are excited to see what great things he will accomplish in college!
Freezer Fish

Throughout the season the Natural Resources Department has reserved fish in the freezer in the event a tribal member may be in need. The intention of this is to keep only enough stock on hand for emergency support purposes as we cannot yet store frozen fish in large quantities. Please contact Tiffini Alexander for more information: 360-353-9509.

The Good Fight

When the sun gives way to the rain and happiness turns to pain
When this life we are living shows no sign of giving will we run from ourselves or stay
When our hearts beat a rhythm of sorrow with no promise of a brighter tomorrow will we fight the good fight and stay until the rain gives way to the sun and a rainbow has begun

There is much to learn and much to teach,
Yet often it may feel these lessons can be hard to reach.
The days continue to pass as the glowing sun sets,
But a new day arises and this you should never forget.

The teachings that came before our own birth
Brought lessons and promise to our very own Earth.
We must stand strong next to our brothers and sisters.
We must listen for Creator, listen closely for whispers.

The spirit inside us will help lead our way.
We will fight to unite and continue to pray.
We will do all we can to preserve our traditions.
We will learn from our elders;
We will listen.

Our children are our future, and as are you here today,
Lets work it out together because there is no other way.
Seven generations before us affect seven generations to come.
Remember that always as we look at where we came from.

There is still much to learn, and still more to teach.
There are still many more people to reach.
With the guidance from our ancestors and our Creator above,
Let us continue our growth.
Growing on our own and with the people we love.
